

These are the terms and conditions covering Farmers Weekly's use of videos submitted for the Farmers Weekly showreel to be played at New Scientist Live 2020.

Every video submitted to Farmers Weekly following the directions outlined in this PDF will be automatically entered to our “New Scientist Live video” competition.

- In this context, “submitted” is deemed to mean videos sent to farmersweekly@proagrica.com which follow the instructions outlined in this PDF document.
- The competition is open to farmers and all those in affiliated agricultural industries and the supply chain.
- The videos judged to give the best representation of 21st-century agriculture will be used as part of the Farmers Weekly showreel at New Scientist Live 15-18 October 2020.
- Farmers Weekly and its affiliated companies and businesses reserve the right to use any of the submitted videos without limitation – whether in the magazine, on the website, on social media, or in any other medium or format – both in connection with promoting the Farmers Weekly exhibit at New Scientist Live and in any other context.
- By submitting a video to Farmers Weekly, you are confirming that you own the copyright to that media and that there will be no fees attached to the use of the media as outlined above.
- People submitting videos to Farmers Weekly retain the right to use those videos again themselves for personal and/or commercial purposes.
- You can submit videos that have been entered for other competitions, as long as doing so doesn't contravene the terms and conditions of the other competition or competitions.
- There is no limit on the number of videos you can submit.
- The decision of the judges as to the selection of the winning videos is final, and no correspondence will be entered into.
- The closing date of the competition is 30 August 2020 and winners will be announced in Farmers Weekly magazine and on the fwi.co.uk website in June.
- Each winner will receive £100.
- If you have any queries, please email farmersweekly@proagrica.com.